ENROLLMENT AT CORNELL IS 30 PER CENT LESS

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Cornell University's deficit for the current year on account of the decline in student attendance due to the war will probably be considerably less than $100,000. President Schurman said today in his annual report to the university board of trustees. That was less than had been feared last June, he said, although the student enrollment had fallen off about thirty per cent, just about the loss that had been expected. Some cuts in the budget had been made by postponing improvements. A further reduction of expense had resulted from the temporary absence of a number of faculty members who were now in the government service and who could be spared, because, there, were, fewer students.

The loss of income was a serious matter, however, President Schurman said, because the university had begun the present fiscal year with an accumulated deficit of about $85,000.

President Schurman said that Cornell's work would go on during the war even though the income fell short of the cost. "Patriotism," he said, "demands the full measure of service of every individual and every institution, and the education of young men and women is a high service incumbent upon our universities. Whatever actual deficiency the books may show in June, 1918, must be accepted as a part of the cost of the war to Cornell University."

Announcing The New Oakland Sensible Six

THE NEW OAKLAND SENSIBLE SIX IS HERE.

It's a continuation of the remarkably successful Oakland Sensible Six of the past three seasons, which has been annually refined, improved and strengthened so that now we are offering tomorrow's car to you today—the forerunner of the type of automobile that soon shall command America.

Scientific development of the engine now makes it more powerful, more speedy at the getaway, more active in traffic and more economical in use of fuel.

Improvements in the design of intake and exhaust manifolds secure the utmost power value from today's gasoline.

The overhead valve high-speed, six cylinder engine now delivers 44 horse power at 2600 r. p. m. or one full working horse power for every 48 pounds of car weight.

The new force feed oiling system gives thorough lubrication to the vital moving parts of the engine.

Higher cooling efficiency has been obtained through the use of a larger pump and new type bi-plane fan of powerful suction.

Proper design has contrived a full 106 inches of body room on the 112 inch wheelbase—affording seating capacity and leg room equal to that of many cars of much longer wheelbase.

Long, specially graded, semi-elliptic under-slung springs and extra large tires give ideal riding comfort—accentuated by the deep genuine leather upholstery.

The fine appearance of the new Oakland Sensible Six is enhanced by a sloping wind-shield of new design; an oil gauge of pressure feed type on the dash; a deeper radiator; a higher body wall and the tire carrier at the rear of the car.

These are just a few of the features that contribute to the complete excellence of the new Oakland Sensible Six.

SPORT LETTER

New York, Nov. 9.—The records of the sixteen major league clubs during the past baseball season present some unusual and interesting features. While these statistics are not based upon the official league averages, they conform closely to the authentic percentages and for the purposes of comparison are thoroughly reliable, being compiled in many cases from the official box scores.

The records show that the Chicago American league club, winner of the world championship series led the junior organization in both the number of games won and the total runs, scored. In no other department did the White Sox hold the premier position although the average of the team was very high. Boston played the greatest number of games during the season due to the five tie contests. Detroit, which finished fourth, led in hitting, while the Boston Red Sox held the opposing teams to the lowest number of runs.

The figures also give a clear insight into the loose play of the Philadelphia Athletics, who finished in last place. The Mackmen scored next to the largest total of runs being but 53 behind the Chicago club in this respect and but 23 hits short of the Detroit record, which enabled the Tigers to win first place in this department of the game. As an offset to this excellent offense, however, the Athletics showed the poorest defensive play of any club in the American league. The Philadelphia team made the largest number of errors, but the greatest number of runners left on the bases and their opponents scored more runs against the team than against any other club in the circuit.

In the National league, the New York Giants, winners of the pennant and losers of the world series played the most games, completing their full schedule of 154 games with four tie contests bringing the total up to 158. As was the case with the Chicago White Sox, the pennant winning organization in the senior organization, also secured the most runs, the Giants' record in this respect being 635. Cincinnati, however, piled up the largest total of hits while the Chicago Nationals perpetrated the greatest number of errors. The Boston Braves had the most runners stranded on the bases during the season of 1917 and Cincinnati proved the easiest to score against, as the other seven clubs collected a total of 511 runs from the Reds in the 167 games played.

The Brooklyn club, winner of the 1915 pennant, aside from its feat in playing the largest number of games, failed to show its form of a year ago. The Superbas made less runs than any team in the league, with the exception of Pittsburgh, was third in total hits, made the third largest number of errors and was about at the halfway mark in men left on bases and runs scored by opponents.

The complete records of the sixteen clubs showing the work of the various teams in the two major leagues follows:

A Bugaboo Laid Low.

People who have been worrying about the relations of the United States and Japan should now breathe easier. Viscount Ishi and Secretary of State Lansing have been talking matters over and it is made clear that the most friendly relations exist.

The chief point under discussion was the open door in China, which both countries are ready and determined to maintain. They have agreed that both shall oppose "the acquisition by any government of any special rights or privileges that would affect the independence or territorial integrity of China, or that would deny to the subjects or citizens of any country the full enjoyment of equal opportunity in the commonwealth her desire to co-operate in every practical way in the war against Germany, and a complete understanding has been reached with reference to naval co-operation in the Pacific.

Secretary Lansing says there has been growing up between the Japanese and Americans a "feeling of suspicion" which, if unchecked, promised to develop a serious situation. Possibly this is so, but it is safe to assume that this "feeling of suspicion" was confined chiefly to the "yellows" in both countries. This paper has steadily maintained that there was no trouble between this country and Japan, and no danger of any, and the understanding so easily reached by Viscount Ishi and Secretary Lansing prove that it was right.

For some years there has been a disposition on the part of certain Americans to see not red, but yellow, with reference to everything pertaining to Japan. They have proclaimed the "yellow peril" and warned the country that trouble was headed this way from the far East. Intelligent people accepted these attempted scares for what they were worth, but the more timid and suspicious were made uneasy by the repeated outgivings of the alarmists.

It is now easy to understand how groundless were all such fears. There is absolute harmony between the United States and Japan, not only with reference to the open door in China, but to the war against Germany. With practically all the other nations of the earth Japan recognizes the danger of Prussian military domination of the world and is ready to do her part to prevent it. It is not probable that she will enter actively into the war, but she may be trusted to take care of matters in the Pacific in case action should become necessary there, and that should be enough.

Americans who have been made nervous by the alleged "yellow peril" may now calm themselves. Japan and the United States are at peace and will so remain. They believe in liberty for themselves and freedom for others, including China, and are prepared to stand shoulder to shoulder for the restoration and maintenance of international decency.

New York city has been granted permission by the food commissioner to buy and sell food and fuel, the law granting such action in case of emergency. And it is claimed that an emergency now exists in that city, "by reason of excessive charges and otherwise." And New York is not the only city in the country suffering from similar causes.

It is highly disturbing to read of the ravages of hog cholera at such a time as this. It is claimed that the disease killed enough animals last year to provide sufficient meat rations for an army of a million men for six months. Among the other "drives" it would appear to be high time for one against hog cholera.

In one New England city the women are demanding the enforcement of the curfew law, which has been in existence for fifteen or twenty years. It's the old story. Laws are piled upon laws and ordinances upon ordinances, and then the people are allowed to proceed on the "go as you please" plan.

A few American troops were overcome the other day by a superior force, but they improved the opportunity to show of what kind of stuff they were made, and they did it nobly. Germany will soon realize that she has a new force to deal with if she doesn't recognize it already.

The Department of Agriculture is inaugurating a campaign against rats and mice in the interest of grain conservation, but thus far it is not advocating the extermination of cats as a means to this end.

New York's health commissioner declares that the automobile threatens to take the place of typhoid fever as one of the chief preventable causes of death. But is the automobile preventable?

NEXT CONTINGENT WILL GO SOON

Delay Caused by Condition of Cantonments; One Discharge Revoked.

The war board today revoked the discharge of Frank Herman Brackett of Newmarket. Brackett was granted a discharge to November 18, on account of being employed by the government in construction of barracks at Camp Devens. He completed his duties there and then went to other government work in ship yards at Philadelphia. Not making a second request for discharge, he was certified in the national army.

Harry J. Lyle of Brooklyn, transferred to the local board was exempted today as a government employ. He is employed as an artificer at the Portsmouth navy yard and government officials request his exemption.

Governor Keyes has notified the local board that from the information he received from the provost marshal general, states the delivery of the final 15 per cent of the national army has been delayed because of the cantonments not being in position to receive the last contingent. He expects the call to be issued this month.

The local board was also instructed to send in all bills contracted by the board, to Adjutant General C. W. Howard for payment.

NAVY NOTES

Must Get Men to Hold the Work.
It is apparent that outside firms are continuing to get hold of the co-operation work at the Portsmouth navy yard which the officials are trying hard to check. However it can be said that to retain this branch of the work in every line depends greatly on the navy department to get the necessary co-operation to carry on the work. At present the government has nearly two years' steady work ahead in the yard shop and is hunting for men of this trade.

Talk It Over at Washington.
The committee in charge of a new working schedule for navy clerks and draftsmen at navy yards and stations meet the officials of the navy department for conference on the same at Washington today.

More Added to the Force.
Three stenographers from the civil service list have been added to the force in the Industrial Department recently.

To Make Repairs.
The electric power of the local yard will be shut off for a few hours on Sunday to allow of repairs at the central plant.

Osborne to Speak.
Lieut. Commander Thomas M. Osborne of the naval prison will address the union men's meeting at South Berwick and Salmon Falls at the Salmon Falls Congregational church on December 4.

Dinner for Marines and Sailors.
A Thanksgiving dinner is to be given to the marines and sailors of the Charlestown navy yard on Thanksgiving Day at the Charlestown High School by the war relief committee of Charlestown. A large committee of men and women are now at work making arrangements for the affair.

Made Into a Theatre.
The former mess room of the training camp in the pattern shop has been converted into a small theatre and will be in charge of Chief Boatswain W. L. Hill. The hall will be equipped for moving pictures and other amusements for the enlisted men.

Will Train With Regulars.
Hereafter training of Naval reserves will not be conducted under separate head in the 2d Naval District, but with men of the regular service and conducted under one head, by regular Naval officers. All future training of enlisted men in this Naval district will be at the Naval training station at Newport. Barracks of Naval reserves here where the training regiment is encamped will be used for holding men after their training periods for duties wherever they are called. Scout squadron, repair and mine-sweeping branches of the reserves will remain as now.

Tried Out the Kites.
Two observation kites from the naval prison were tested out today and worked excellent in the strong wind.

BRUSH FIRE AT KITTERY

Sparks From Locomotive Start Blaze on Love Lane.

The Kittery Fire Department was called out just before noon today for a brush fire on Love Lane which was started from sparks of a locomotive on the York Harbor and Beach railroad. The department made quick work of it and no real damage resulted.

SHEEP HERDER DID NOT KNOW U. S. WAS AT WAR

Baker Ore, Nov. 10.—Fate Wilson, 26 years old, a sheep herder, arrested at Fossil, Ore., as a draft evader yesterday, did not know the United States was at war, or anything about the registration law, he told Deputy United States Marshal Kichenor.

Wilson said he had been with sheep in the hills 20 months. He has saved $1200, which he desires to invest in Liberty bonds, and told Kichenor he wished to join the navy.

CHURCH BELLS CONVERTED INTO WAR MUNITIONS

(By Associated Press)
London, Nov. 10.—Nearly all of the church bells and organ pipes of Alsation towns and villages have now been dismantled and converted into munitions of war. But the money the German government agreed to give for these bells will not be paid out, but retained and invested in the new German war loan.

WEATHER PREDICTIONS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The weather for the coming week as recorded by the weather bureau states that the first of the week will be unsettled with rain; fair the middle of the week followed by rain. Colder the first of the week followed by moderate temperature.

PEOPLES' OPINIONS.

The Kittery Whistle Again.
Some people of Kittery appear to be more stirred up over the talk about the fire alarm whistle than they are when it sounds for a fire. To the minds of the majority of Kittery citizens, this alarm has been the means of timely work by the town fire department. The talk that the alarm blasts cannot be counted is all bosh. Any one who is not hard of hearing can easily enumerate the blasts the same as the firemen who find no trouble in counting the boxes and locating the scene of fire. I should like to ask those opposed to this instrument of alarm, what the school department and children would have done without the whistle last winter on the occasion of bad weather?

GOVERNMENT STREET.
The Middle Street Mess.
Editor Herald—Why don't you expose the city hall crowd responsible for the mess made of Middle street. This matter has been made a political one by the "City hall gang." It is about time these animals were uncovered and their political methods exposed.

APPROVE PLANS FOR CRAFT MADE OF CONCRETE.
London, Nov. 10.—Plans have been approved by the committee of Lloyd's register for a number of non-propelling barges and a motor vessel to be constructed of reinforced concrete, for British and Scandinavian coastal trade. Plans of other reinforced concrete vessels of large carrying capacity for certain sea trades are under consideration.

Many from this city will see the New Hampshire College game at Dover this afternoon.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

A PROCLAMATION
By His Excellency the Governor.
For Red Triangle Sunday.

The one aim of our nation today is to win the world war for the side of righteousness, humanity and freedom. Our instrument of victory must be our army. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that the morale of our forces, their mental and physical condition, should be maintained at the point of highest efficiency.

A very valuable agency in making our men good soldiers and in keeping our soldiers good men, is the war work of the Young Men's Christian Association. It is our duty and our privilege to give this work our assistance in every possible way, and with that end in view I call upon our people for the observance of the Eleventh Day of November, nineteen hundred and seventeen, as Red Triangle Sunday.

I ask the pastors of New Hampshire churches and all their people to join in prayer upon that day for the well-being of our soldiers and the success of their cause. And I ask further that during the succeeding week the generous contributions of money be made which are necessary in order that the splendid service for which the Red Triangle stands may be supported properly and made most effective. Let the response of New Hampshire to this call be as prompt and as great as it always has been for every worthy cause and upward endeavor.

HENRY W. KEYES, Governor.

By His Excellency, the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council.

RODWIN C. BRAN, Secretary of State.

TWO MEATLESS DAYS IN ALL N. E. HOTELS

(By Associated Press)
Greenfield, Nov. 10.—Meatless Tuesdays and Fridays will prevail in all the hotels of New England as a result of a vote taken during the business session today of the annual convention of the New England Hotel Men's association.

The action followed a talk on food conservation in hotels and restaurants by Frank C. Valt of Boston, the New England representative of the food administration.

HELPING TO TAKE THE HELL OUT OF WAR.

(By Ellis Parker Butler)
When you get over yonder where the raw edges of the war grind together and it is as much a case of grit in the nerve-boxes of the soldiers as of grit in the fighting tanks, the Y. M. C. A. doesn't mean sissy-boys by any manner of means.

We have over here in our home town of Flushing, on Long Island, a young fellow named Arthur Clark who has just come back from a year with the British Tommies in Mesopotamia and he went into Baghdad with them when they were panting and sweating at 120 degrees in the shade. He did not find a half hour of the sissy-boy business from start to finish.

Clark had three months in India before he went to Mesopotamia. He had as side partner a Scotsman named Payne and they worked as co-associates Y. M. C. A. secretaries.

For five months, while the British forces were fighting toward Baghdad, he was running a Y. M. C. A. hut in a hospital camp of 10 huts, each with 100 beds, and every man seriously wounded. The camp was at Amara, 100 miles behind the fighting front, on the Tigris. Side-paddle convoys, frightfully overcrowded, brought the wounded down the river, and before the poor fellows were landed Clark and his helpers would be aboard handling out comforts and other dainties they so much needed.

What the British army heads thought of the Y. M. C. A. work is told by the fact that Clark's working force was a sergeant major, a corporal, and five privates detailed to Y. M. C. A. duty from the regular forces.

When the army went into Baghdad, the famous Arabian Nights city, the Y. M. C. A. had been using field quarters composed of a series of market tents strung together. The Turks left Baghdad seven hours before the British Expeditionary Army entered, and the Kurds came into the city in the interim and looted every building. One of the first things Clark did was to establish a Y. M. C. A. library by gathering up the books the Kurds looters had scattered in the streets.

The Y. M. C. A. was given as headquarters the big Red Crescent Hospital building, which had previously been the Baghdad hotel. The big dining room was transformed into a lounge, a kitchen, a bakery was erected for the cakes and buns dear to the palate of the Tommy, and ice cream and soda plants were started. The Y. M. C. A. made its own soda and slipped up an ice cream freezer. The Turks had left an undamaged ice plant and the army brought up another. Clark told me they found an old Arab with several cows and three wives, and the Arab drove up the cows every morning, the wives milked them, and this ice cream was possible with a cow that pushed the thermometer up to 105 degrees and then broke it.

In the hotel headquarters all the help was Arabian, mostly Turkish army deserters. About 300 Tommies made use of the Y. M. C. A. every day, the number sometimes going up to 1,000. Checkers and the ancient Greek game of halma were the favorite sports, and periodicals and other reading matter was in constant demand.

Clark found much work among the wounded soldiers, and tells of one stoical Tommy who was ridden with machine-gun bullets and asked the Y. M. C. A. man to write a letter to his father back in England. His letter was this: "Dear Dad—I look like the top side of a pepper-box. Jack."

No, the Y. M. C. A. in war time is not a pink-tea affair. It marches with the men, works as hard as day laborers, thinks quick and hard, leaps to necessary expedients, and keeps war, by just one big effort, from being utterly and entirely hell.

PARK SQUARE THEATRE.

Not in years has there been seen a musical comedy which has won such universal praise as "The Grass Widow" which had its premiere last Monday at the Park Square Theatre, Boston. With a book from the combined pens of Channing Pollock and Rennell Wolf, to whose credit there are so many great successes in this field, and with music composed by Louis A. Hirsch, composer of many of the Pollock greatest song hits, there was much to be expected. But in excess of this there was the production given the piece at the hands of Madison Corey over which no expense was spared, and who chose for the artists to interpret the roles and sing the songs players of the highest calibre, thus outfitting a production which should merit success. The response on the part of critics and public denotes that this merit has been

MONASTIR, THE MARTYR CITY OF THE SERBS IS WORSE THAN VERDUN

Monastir, Serbia, Nov. 9.—(Staff Correspondent of The Associated Press)—This martyr city of the Serbs, under continuous bombardment from the Bulgarian batteries only two miles away, was visited for the first time today by a civilian, on orders issued by General Grossetti, commander-in-chief of the Monastir front of the army of the Orient. It is seldom that a press dispatch goes from Serbia these days, for practically the whole country has been swept clean by the Austro-Bulgarian hordes, and only this little corner in the southwest, retaken last November is holding out against the terrific bombardment.

"It is worse than Verdun," said Lieut. Colonel Dossa of the staff, who was on General Pele's staff at Verdun during the worst days.

Monastir lies in a cup-like hollow, and by reason of its being on Serbian soil it is the center of the bitter strife between Serb and Bulgarian. It was one of the last points abandoned by the Serbs in their exodus before the rush of the Austrians in 1915. The Bulgarians held it last year through August. Then the new Serbian army reorganized, gave their attention to getting back this city. But their newness was against them and they were badly repulsed. But in October the Serbs got their revenge, making a mass attack with the French and Russian divisions.

This fight of Serb against Bulgarian was one of the bloodiest of the war. The Serbs took the strategic key of Mount Kalsnatchakalen, which today marks the burial place of place of ten thousand Bulgarians. Monastir was again taken, but the Austro-Bulgars still held on only three miles north and west of the city. General Grossetti then cleared them from the northern hills in a brilliant attack last March when the famous Hill 1248 was taken. But they clung to the western hills and where they are today raining down their shells on the only Serbian town. It used to have 60,000 population; now it has 6,000 living in cellars.

Entering the city, by the street by the way of the poor quarter, there were signs of life, despite the rumble of the guns. Little girls ran along the street with jars of water on their heads carrying fresh water to the people imprisoned in the cellars. All the shops were closed or abandoned. Many of the front walls were ripped out and the abandoned stock scattered about. Almost every third house was down, a mass of debris. Those between were askew, with a cornice or wing blown off, or the upper story torn out, or a huge round hole in front showing where a shot had cut through before exploding. A tumbled down cafe showed several men at the table. "They take chances," said Colonel Dossa, "but when an explosion comes they scuttle to the cellars."

The business section had lost all semblance to streets with houses. It was one long stretch of blackened heaps of debris, with a jagged wall or chimney sticking up here and there.

Besides the destruction, the killed scattered through the past summer, runs into the hundreds. Shell fire and falling walls have not been alone in causing the death list. For the Bulgarians send a wave of asphyxiating gas every time the wind is favorable. The run from army headquarters to Monastir gave the opportunity of securing the vast military preparation on this front. Four American ambulance cars also were passed bringing sick and wounded from the Monastir front.

The camp of equipment and engineering supplies stretches for four miles along the route with vast stores of munitions and trench and railway material. Soldiers, prisoners, horses and mules and camels were sending up great clouds of dust and the nearby cornfields had turned gray with the dust of this legion of workers who keep pushing the supplies up to the fighting front. The approach of winter is evident for winter barracks are being constructed of wood and corrugated iron and great stacks of fuel are being laid in.

Everything on the Monastir front indicates that the Entente forces are here to stay. There is no evidence of withdrawal and every evidence of holding what they already have and pushing further forward. Monastir itself has been freed of Bulgarians but the city is still under the fire of the guns and the task still remains of clearing them from this outpost of the Serbs—the last they left and the first they recovered.

A tumbled down cafe showed several men at the table. "They take chances," said Colonel Dossa, "but when an explosion comes they scuttle to the cellars."

The business section had lost all semblance to streets with houses. It was one long stretch of blackened heaps of debris, with a jagged wall or chimney sticking up here and there.

Besides the destruction, the killed scattered through the past summer, runs into the hundreds. Shell fire and falling walls have not been alone in causing the death list. For the Bulgarians send a wave of asphyxiating gas every time the wind is favorable. The run from army headquarters to Monastir gave the opportunity of securing the vast military preparation on this front. Four American ambulance cars also were passed bringing sick and wounded from the Monastir front.

The camp of equipment and engineering supplies stretches for four miles along the route with vast stores of munitions and trench and railway material. Soldiers, prisoners, horses and mules and camels were sending up great clouds of dust and the nearby cornfields had turned gray with the dust of this legion of workers who keep pushing the supplies up to the fighting front. The approach of winter is evident for winter barracks are being constructed of wood and corrugated iron and great stacks of fuel are being laid in.

Everything on the Monastir front indicates that the Entente forces are here to stay. There is no evidence of withdrawal and every evidence of holding what they already have and pushing further forward. Monastir itself has been freed of Bulgarians but the city is still under the fire of the guns and the task still remains of clearing them from this outpost of the Serbs—the last they left and the first they recovered.

SAYS RUSSIAN ARMIES CAN AND WILL CONTINUE THE STRUGGLE

(By Associated Press)
London, Nov. 10.—Lieut. General C. N. Bassano, the Russian military plenipotentiary accredited to the British armies has sent to the Associated Press an optimistic review of the condition of the Russian army in which he assures the American people that "German efforts to take advantage of our temporary weakness and impaired morale and to bring about total disorganization have not succeeded and shall not succeed." He adds: "The armies can and will continue the struggle." General Bassano's statement says in part:

"The events of July on our Gallien front, the piercing of our positions to the northeast of Riga in August, in connection with the reorganizing of our armies on new lines and certain events in the interior of the state, having shaken confidence in our troops, made part of the foreign press anxious and doubtful as to whether we are able to fill our duties as allies.

"Such fears are comprehensible but they are founded on ignorance of the circumstances at the front as a whole. The regrettable events which took place during the fighting on our front, and which have not been withheld from publication, tend to obscure the enormous work which our armies are continuing to contribute towards the mutual aims of the allies.

"It is over six months since our revolution began and our armies continue to hold the enemies forces on the entire front. Besides this, during this time, the enemy's forces, far from diminishing, have up to the present been actually augmented. On July 31, when handisomely met, and a long and prosperous engagement is assured for the coming year. In the east are such well known players as Natalie Alt, George Martin, Robert Emmett Keane, Emma Javner and Howard Marsh, and in addition to a large beauty chorus there is a group of "Delaware Peaches" who have won especial admiration. Matinees are given on Wednesdays and Saturdays with a special Thanksgiving performance, seats for which are on sale. Mail orders will be carefully filled.

MAY EXTEND DRAFT TO MEN REACHING 21 SINCE JUNE 5

Washington, Nov. 10.—In connection with the far-reaching draft it became known here today that Congress is to be asked shortly after it convenes to include "the class of 1917," the men who have become 21 years of age since June 5, in the next list of eligibles. This will probably mean a second registration before the end of the year.

No prospect of the next draft being called before the beginning of the year can be found among officials, but it is already looking up enlistment records in every county of the United States since the last draft on which to base the next our armies resumed the offensive in Gallien, the number of the enemy divisions on the Russo-Turmanian front was identical with the number on March 12. By July 28 in other words, when the fighting in Gallien and Hutovina was fiercest, the enemy had been reinforced by 9 1-2 infantry divisions.

"Compared with March 12, that is the beginning of the revolution, there are now, according to information of September 24, four extra enemy divisions in our front. Further, it is the German divisions which have been increased by fifteen since March 12, whereas the Austrian and Turkish divisions have slightly diminished. Apart from this, the enemy's artillery has been strengthened during this period by approximately 640 guns of all calibres. This only concerns the Russian-European fronts.

"On the Caucasian fronts, our troops continue their successful struggle with the Turks under exceptionally difficult climatic conditions. At the same time they have to defend themselves in the rear against the warlike Kurd tribes who are incessantly harassing our transport.

"Russia has undergone an enormous change, in process of which the army has also been affected. Time was necessary to restore the morale of the troops and to overcome various difficulties and misfortunes. The spirit and tenacity usual in our troops, and noticeable in the recent fighting on the northern front, are increasing, and this encourages our hope that the morale will be permanently restored in the near future."

With millions of copies of the question form to be used in examining the remaining eligibles now printed and as many copies of the new draft regulations, it was learned today that these forms have already been shipped to the Pacific Coast.

BOSTON STATISTICS.

Boston annually handles enough wool to make an all-wool suit for every man, woman and child in the country.

Ladies' shoes, made in one of Boston's factories, if laid on a straight line would reach from the state house to a point ten miles beyond Worcester.

The total assessed valuation of Boston exceeds $1,000,000,000. This amount divided among every woman and child in this city would give each one more than $2000. This exceeds every other city in the country.

Boston is the first, in a market for rubber and elastic goods, in 1916 more than 40,000,000 pairs of rubbers were sold.

Y. M. C. A. SEEKS $35,000 FOR ITS WORK IN WAR CAMPS

To raise the sum of $35,000.00 to continue its work for the United States soldiers here and abroad, and to extend the work to the armies of Russia, France and Italy, the Young Men's Christian Association will launch a drive campaign on November 11, continuing until Nov. 19.

The work of the Y. M. C. A. in the Army and Navy is not new. It began in the Spanish-American war and reached a greater expression when secretaries in khaki followed the United States troops to and across the Mexican border, with full recognition from the government and with popular acclaim from the soldiers. With the same recognition from President Wilson and from the entire roster of army officers, the Red Triangle men are to be found in every camp and cantonment where soldiers are being prepared for the battle for democracy, and they have preceded the men to England "somewhere in France," and will greet the arrivals as they reach foreign soil.

When the Y. M. C. A. asked for $3,000,000 last April for this war work, its mission was so fully recognized that without a semblance of a campaign the sum of $5,000,000 was given. It had been estimated that $3,000,000 would carry on the work until December 31, and the remainder of the fund would provide for the winter. But army mobilization has been carried on much more rapidly than had been anticipated even in Washington, and the association scarcely has been able to keep pace with the demands for men and materials in the camps where the state troops were mobilized and in the cantonments where the National Army men are under training.

WARNED AGAINST FAKE $5 BILLS

Manager of the local 5 and 10 cent store, Samuel B. Taxis, has been notified from the main offices of the stores to be on the lookout for counterfeit five dollar bills.

It was stated in the communication received by Manager Taxis that the new one dollar bills were being made into fives by cutting out the five and pasting it over the one.

There is no indication that these bills are in circulation in Portsmouth, but it is known that they have been found in great numbers in the west and a few have been circulated through the east.

GERMANS HURL 500 SHELLS PER DAY AT AMERICANS

(By Associated Press)

With the American Army in France, Nov. 10.—There has been no special activity reported on the sector held by the American troops in France during the past two days. A continuous rain has interfered with artillery observation, but the Americans have been firing their usual number of shells daily. There is good reason to believe that some of these shells fell upon or near certain battery positions and strategic points.

On an average, 500 German shells daily have been coming over, but no damage from them has been reported. The American infantry is still struggling with mud and water, for, despite the activity of the engineers in clearing the trenches, the mud and water continues to flow in.

The new hat adopted by the Americans is affording great comfort to the men. Both the infantry and artillery branches are wearing them under their shrapnel helmets, with the flap over their ears.

The temperature is continually going lower.

WILL NOT RECEIVE THREE CENT RAISE

Endicott Decides Against Demands of B. and M. Mechanics.

Boston, Nov. 10.—Boston and Maine railroad mechanics will not receive the additional three cents an hour which was part of their recent wage demands according to a decision announced today by Henry D. Endicott, executive manager of the state public safety committee who was elected as arbitrator of the differences between the railroad and employees in the shops and yards. The mechanics went out on strike September 8 for an increase of pay of eight cents an hour. After being out one week they returned to work, accepting an offer of an increase of five cents an hour with the understanding that the arbitrator would announce a decision relative to the other three cents after further consideration of facts and figures.

The new decision extends to apprentices the 5 per cent increase granted to the workmen.

"Considering the present and recently agreed rates on nearly all the roads in the country, and particularly on the roads east of the Mississippi river," says the arbitrator, "I am absolutely clear that the five cents per hour advance made to the men in September was a proper advance, fairly called for, but I am equally clear on all the evidence that that advance put the men on at least as high a wage basis as the average in the entire eastern half of the country."

GREENLAND

Greenland, Nov. 10.—The Congregational pulpit will be occupied next Sunday morning by Rev. Arthur J. Covell of the Congregational house, Boston, who is the superintendent and secretary of the New England Ministerial Supply. It is urgently desired that each member of the church and parish attend, not only for the rare privilege of hearing this gifted speaker, but also be present at the conference following the morning service. Mr. Covell will advise the church and parish in regard to future action relative to the settlement of a pastor, and it is important that there should be a good attendance. He will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Holmes.

Miss Esther May Brackett of Hope Valley, R. I., High school, where she teaches English and French is at her home for a week's vacation.

In the Spring time Mrs. Mary L. Packer, superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school, tried to interest the younger members in home gardening. She promised to give one dollar to the most successful producer of vegetables. At the last session Clarence Thompson, a young lad, was called on to tell his experience, which he did very nicely, and he won the prize. It was remarked that no weeds were allowed in his garden, to which reference may be made later.

Rev. Charles H. Percival of Rochester occupied Dr. Robie's pulpit on Sunday morning and administered the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, after the sermon.

Six months ago a company of loyal women organized for relief work for our soldiers. They met weekly on Monday afternoon in Dr. Robie's large parlor, under the name of the woman's section of the Navy League. Through their efforts in the way of entertainments and help of friends, they have raised $181. Completed work to date numbers 35 sweaters, pair stockings, 10 mufflers, 22 pairs of wristers, 48 helmets, six surgical slippers, 13 convalescent gowns, six sets of pajamas, 39 flannellette pajamas. Have sent four outfits and one sweater to Greenland boys. The brave true-hearted women are using every spare moment in working for our own or some one else's boys, who are defending our country.

RED CROSS DOING RELIEF WORK IN VILLAGES

(By Associated Press)

Paris, Nov. 10.—Temporary repairs on buildings in certain sections of the liberated area of France sufficient to enable returned refugees to remain in their homes through the winter has been undertaken by the Bureau of Reconstruction and Relief of the American Red Cross. Work was recently begun at Croix near Nesle, and it is hoped to complete the task in that village, Mollmaux and Matigny within one month. The bureau is also preparing plans for relief work in other villages.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" relieves stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sick, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eruptions undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—Just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to help neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops fermentation and acidity and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

RYE NEWS

No collection will be taken and all are invited.

At the meeting of the Red Cross yesterday fifty comfort kits of khaki were made and passed to members to fill with useful articles. It is requested that the kits contain at least ten articles, and that a small flag be attached upon the outside of the bag. They must be turned in at the Red Cross rooms not later than Tuesday if the boys in the trenches are to receive them for Xmas. Already twenty bags containing splendid collections of useful things are ready to send.

HORSES NAMED FOR THOSE WHO ARE IN PUBLIC EYE

(By Associated Press)

London, Nov. 10.—Horse name nomenclature is peculiarly sensitive to current minds. Horses are named quite largely after current events, or people who are in the public eye at the moment. The war has had a marked effect in this respect. The racing at Newmarket this week, for example, was featured by horses bearing such names as Armageddon, Verdun, Rapunze, Jutland, Grand Fleet, Home Service, Entente Cordiale, Big Push and Dawn of Peace.

Are you doing what you can to help win the war?

BOYS TO HELP IN WAR FUND DRIVE

A meeting for the young men and boys over fifteen years of age was held at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening. In the interest of the campaign next week for the Red Triangle war fund. The meeting included the boys of this section and surrounding towns and there was a good attendance.

Supper was served at 6.30 and following the supper Mr. E. Condit Matthews, chairman of the boys work in this district, stated the object of the meeting and what it was hoped to accomplish.

The special speaker was Mr. Jack Ingersol of Concord, the noted Dartmouth football player, who is chairman of the Concord district.

Mr. Ingersol gave the boys a fine talk, it was principally on the good that this money would do for the soldiers and sailors in camp and at the front and it made a hit with the boys. He told of the work that is being done at Camp Devens, as he had observed it on a visit there, although he is not actively engaged in any Y. M. C. A. work but had been called into this campaign.

Mr. Oseph Huse of Stratham who is in charge of some of the state work also spoke.

At the conclusion the following team captains were appointed and they will represent the members of their teams.

Portsmouth, Lawrence Leavitt, Roscoe Clough, Henry Margeson, Wallace DeLoachman, and John Seybolt, Etc. George Parsons, Greenland, John Thompson, Hampton, Cusick Donnelly, Newington, Robert Drowne, New Cas-

YOUR SICK CHILD IS CONSTIPATED! LOOK AT TONGUE

If cross, feverish or bilious give "California Syrup of Figs."

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little son is out-of-sorts, half sick, isn't eating, crying and nothing naturally—look! Mother! See if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without gripping and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the bowels and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

GENERAL CADORNA REMOVED FROM COMMAND OF ARMY

(By Associated Press)

The revolutionary element still continued to hold the Russian capital in their power, although there is some doubt as to the size of the revolution.

On the Italian front the Italians have retreated to the Piave river where a stand will be made, when the Italian forces will face the Austro-German forces strongly reinforced by the British and French troops who have arrived and under the direction of an allied military committee.

General Cadorna has been removed from the supreme command of the Italian army and given a position on the Allied committee with General Poika noted French general and Gen. Wilson the British chief of staff. Gen. Diaz has been made commander in chief of the Italian armies.

Reports from Russia are contradictory. There is some doubt as to the extent of the control that Lenin and his followers have secured. They have announced that they will ask a cessation of all hostilities on all fronts so that the time could be devoted to arranging for peace plans. His idea is that a convention of delegates from all countries be called to arrange for peace plans and that no diplomats be allowed at the meeting.

There are several stories as to the whereabouts of Premier Kowensky, one that he has been placed under arrest by the revolutionary forces and another that he is still on his way to the front to strengthen the morale of the troops and secure their backing for the government.

Various members of the cabinet are still under arrest in Petrograd and Gen. Korniloff former commander of the Russian army who has been under arrest has been ordered to Petrograd for trial.

In the meanwhile the condition of Petrograd is normal and there were very few casualties in the uprising in which the government forces were upset. As all of the telegraph offices are in the hands of the revolutionists the true state of affairs is not known.

On the French and Belgian front there has been very little activity, either on the French or Belgian fronts.

In the Palestine however the British have gained a big victory and the Turks are in flight with the guns of the British and French war ships harassing them at every step along the coast while the British aeroplanes are bombing and otherwise scattering the fleeing foe.

Italy needs food and coal. Washington, Nov. 9.—Confidential advices from Italy to the American government today painted a picture of a cold and hungry populace which officials consider menacing.

It is a matter of common knowledge among Washington newspapermen that conditions in the empire of the ancient Romans are far worse than the public has been permitted to know.

There is practically no coal for private consumption. It is said that not a single fire will be lighted this winter in any hotel or private home in Italy. Pine cones and old newspapers burned in iron buckets give all the heat the public at large gets.

The army is hard hit, too. Owing to lack of coal, Italy has been compelled to quit the making of cannon. She gets her artillery supply from Great Britain. Other manufactures have no coal at all.

Italy's pre-war coal imports were 850,000 tons. Her present war minimum is 1,100,000 tons. She has had to reduce that to 600,000 tons, and even about 60 per cent. Her reserve supply of this has been able to get only piles have been entirely exhausted.

Drastic food control has failed to solve Italy's food shortage troubles. Prices are fixed, every person is rationed, food products are directly controlled by the government.

Sugar is so short that there is no such thing as cake in the entire nation. In Rome, Genoa, Naples and Florence they have what they call cake. It is really bread with a large proportion of rice flour. Using sugar in cooking is a crime punishable by heavy fine. They have tried to use saccharine, but it is a coal-tar product and very unhealthy.

Except at rare intervals, eggs are given to no one but invalids and nursing mothers. There are two meatless days a week. Even on the five meat days, meat fit to eat is hard to get. There is no such thing as "veal" it is a crime to kill calves or sheep. Chickens are a rare treat.

Restaurants and cafes may keep open only a few stipulated hours a day. Some days a very short time. Salted fish has come into general use.

There is an acute shortage of all cereals. Corn cannot be fed to hogs under the law. As this order practically wiped out the hog-raising industry in the provinces of Modena, Parma, Reggio, Emilia, Ferrara and Ravenna, the hogs were ordered slaughtered by thousands. This has made the shortage of hog meat and fat acute.

The shortage of beef, milk, butter and cheese is keenly felt. Short imports led to the slaughter of one-fourth of Italy's herds, which has accentuated the crisis in beef, milk, butter and cheese.

Olive oil is used for cooking almost exclusively. All bread is a very dark, heavy war bread. Some of it tastes fairly good, some doesn't. Black bread, soaked in olive oil, is a much used, though despised dish.

This shortage has brought an embargo on food exports and practically wiped out the big exporters' business in rice, macaroni, cheese, and other milk products, fresh and dried fruits, oil, chestnuts, vegetables, forage and fish preserved in oil.

PUT MEN IN ARMY REGARDLESS OF NATIONALITY

(By Associated Press)

Copenhagen, Nov. 9.—Germany continues to put men formerly German subjects in the army, regardless of their present nationality. It is not a thing of consideration whether the men have lost their former German nationality or not.

Among those that are being sent into the army are former American citizens who took out papers while in this country and later returned to their native country.

However, the unnaturalized citizens will not be sent into the front line trenches but will be assigned to home military duty.

NO DEMAND FOR POTATOES

Houlton, Me., Nov. 9.—Farmers of the great potato producing territory of Aroostook county are holding their stock. The demand for potatoes is extremely light, and buyers are not at all anxious to purchase at any price. Very few shipments are being made from this region.

Practically every Aroostook county farmer has the greater part of his crop of potatoes snugly stored away in warehouses, and from all appearances will not attempt to market and for several months. The price offered growers ranges from $3 to $3.50 a barrel.

One grower, who raised nearly 5000 bushels this season, declared today he has sold less than 500 bushels and does not intend to ship any before the first of January.

CUT OUT ELECTRIC SIGNS

Washington, Nov. 9.—The first move of the government to stop non-essential work, with the idea of saving the coal supply, was made today when it was ordered that all electrical display signs be shut off between the hours of 7.45 to 11 o'clock.

A list of other non-essentials will be shortly published.

SALT ENOUGH FOR A YEAR

There was a story started that there was a scarcity of salt, but this has been disproved by a survey made which shows that in Boston and in all New England there is enough on hand for a year at least.

A FAIR WARNING

One That Should Be Heeded by Portsmouth Residents.

Frequently the first sign of kidney trouble is a slight ache or pain in the loins. Neglect of this warning makes the way easy for more serious troubles—dropsy, gravel, Bright's disease. It is well to pay attention to the first sign. Weak kidneys generally grow weaker and delay is often dangerous. Residents of this community place reliance in Doan's Kidney Pills. This tested remedy has been used in kidney trouble over 60 years—is recommended all over the civilized world. Read the following Portsmouth proof of their merit.

Mrs. A. B. Joy, 47 Myrtle Ave., Portsmouth, says: "My back gave me an awful lot of trouble and I had stiffness and dull pains just over my hips. Headaches were of frequent occurrence and pains sometimes shot from my shoulders into my head. My feet also swelled. My kidneys were too frequent in action and I felt all tired out. Finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Phillips' Pharmacy, and they helped me right from the start and corrected this trouble. Since then Doan's Kidney Pills have always given me great benefit whenever it has been necessary for me to use them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Joy had. Foster-Billburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

SORE OVER FAILURE OF SUBMARINE

Copenhagen, Nov. 9.—Capt. Persius, naval expert of the Berliner Tagblatt, notes a growing impatience among Germans with the results of the submarine campaign, registered in a swelling flood of letters demanding an answer to the question: "When shall we have England beaten?"

He throws cold water on the optimists and warns them against accepting as reliable figures on destroyed tonnage, including those apparently German, and other statistical material.

Capt. Persius says that with the 1917 harvest and the imports of grain the food problem can scarcely become a motive for the next six months at least, to make Great Britain inclined to conclude peace. He holds that the submarine question for the British will be not "Can we continue the war?" but "Will it pay?"

NEW DRAFT PLAN SOON

Washington, Nov. 9.—The draft questionnaire that will determine the class and order of service of America's remaining 3,000,000 registered will be mailed soon.

The men will get their momentous list of questions before they get their Christmas presents. Each registrant will have seven days to answer. On the basis of his verified replies, he will be placed in one of five classes, the fifth being the last group called.

The five classifications have been revised since the tentative draft was published. Among the radical departures from the original plan is the placing of all married men in the "non-belligerent" class. It is planned that only those men whose families and dependents are fully provided for, even if the man is killed, will be put into fighting units.

Gen. Crowder plans to ask Congress to draft all men who have reached the age of 21 since the conscription law became effective. It is estimated 500,000 men have passed this age since then. The general does not know exactly when the second draft will be made. Probably it will be some time during the spring.

The questions will probe intimately into the personal affairs of each man's life.

ALLIES NOW WITH ITALIANS

London, Nov. 9.—British and French troops are now with the Italian fighters. A dispatch today from Reuter's correspondent at Gen. Cadorna's headquarters, says the Italians are greatly cheered.

The French and British representatives who have come to Italy had a conference of two hours today with King Victor Emmanuel. The military measures called for by the present situation were discussed in active and cordial collaboration. On leaving the King the party visited French and British troops going toward the front.

In the party are the British premier, David Lloyd George; the French premier, Paul Painlevé; the Italian premier, Vittorio Orlando; Lt. Gen. Sir William Robertson, chief of the imperial staff at British army headquarters; Maj. Gen. Wilson, sub-chief of the British general staff; Gen. Smuts, formerly the British commander in South Africa.

LOCAL BOYS ARE APPOINTED NON-COMS.

Camp Devens, Ayer, Nov. 10—It was a happy day yesterday for 232 men in the 303d Heavy Artillery, composed almost entirely of Maine and New Hampshire men, because special orders were issued by Col. A. S. Conklin appointing the first non-com appointments in the regiment.

The appointments come as the result of examinations last week, which every man in the regiment who wished could take. The men were examined by their lieutenants and captains and Col. Conklin and Lieut. Col. Fred W. Stoddard in both practical and written tests.

The Portsmouth boys to receive non-commissioned officers' appointments in the 303d Artillery are: Charles C. Fish, sergeant, Battery A; Edwin M. Campbell, corporal, Battery A; Roland S. Faulkner, corporal, Battery A; William M. Cronin, sergeant, supply company.

Thomas H. Smith of Exeter received a corporal's commission in Battery A, 303d Artillery.

READY FOR RED TRIANGLE FUNDS

A meeting of the executive committee appointed to take charge of the drive for the Y. M. C. A. fund in Portsmouth was held at the Y. M. C. A. building at 5 o'clock, Friday. Mayor Ladd presided. Besides Mayor Ladd there were present: Messrs. Fred M. Sise, John K. Bates, D. F. Borthwick, Chaplain Scott, U. S. N., Dr. P. S. Towle, Hon. D. W. Badger, Henry P. Payne, Charles H. Walker, F. C. Reimle, R. G. Diekey, C. F. Skillebar, E. Curtis Matthews, County Secretary Hawes of the Y. M. C. A., War Secretary William M. Forgrave and Secretary E. H. Baker of the Chamber of Commerce.

Fred M. Sise, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was appointed chairman of the campaign committee; and Secretary E. H. Baker of the Chamber of Commerce was named as chairman of the publicity committee in connection with the campaign.

The methods to be used in conducting this campaign were discussed and the whole matter was left in the hands of the campaign chairman to effect and carry out such organizations as he saw fit.

On Sunday evening a mass meeting will be held at 7 o'clock at the Colonial Theatre. The meeting will be addressed by able speakers. What the Y. M. C. A. work means to the boys on the firing line and in training camps will be graphically told and the public will gain a better understanding of its importance. A comprehensive plan of the campaign under the direction of the Chamber of Commerce is being worked out and it is expected that the Red Triangle week will not see an idle moment.

WILL TALK TO THE POLICE COMMISSION

Civic Association Going Further With Its Work.

It is understood that the Civic association which has called the attention of Mayor Ladd to objectionable theatre advertising, will now get busy with the police commission on certain matters which this organization claims should be remedied by the police department in the city.

PORTSMOUTH HIGH DEFEATED DOVER 63-0

Local Boys Play in Fine Form and Show More Snap Than in Previous Games.

Portsmouth High took a full out of their old-time rival, Dover High, on Friday afternoon at Central Park, Dover, the up-river team being beaten by a score of 63 to 0.

The local team showed considerable improvement, playing with more of a snap than they have shown before this year. For the local team the work of Smith and W. Thompson was the feature. For the losers Taylor played well. Captain Goggin, the full back of the Dover team, was unable to play.

The summary:
Portsmouth: Leavitt, le; Smart, rt; Campbell, lg; Hatchelder, c; Thompson, rg; Barutla, rt; W. Thompson, re; Quick, re; Smith, qb; Simpson, lb; Hodgdon, rlb; Kickpatrick, fh; Score, Portsmouth High, 63. Touchdowns, W. Thompson 2, Smart 2, Smith 2, Simpson 2, Hodgdon, Leavitt. Goals from touchdowns, Smith 3, Reference, A. Grimes. Head linesman, Goggin. Time, 19th quarters.

THE HERALD HEARS

That the city election is warming up a bit.

That Lent will come in early in 1918.

That the portable plant of the Warren Brothers of Boston, paying contractors, has been stored in the city yard for the winter.

That Mrs. Henrietta P. Stanley is acting clerk of the municipal court at Concord.

That she is the first woman to serve in that capacity in the state.

That her husband, who enlisted, was the regular clerk, and the judge appointed the clerk's wife to perform the duty.

That four million dollars worth of toys purchased in Germany and paid for before the United States entered the war, will come along for the Christmas sale.

That these toys have been piled up for months in the store houses and docks at Rotterdam.

That the labels, "Made in Germany" would count for something before the products are placed on sale.

That some one has asked what has become of the old time restaurant keeper who used to hang out the sign "Regular Dinner 25c."

That it might be stated that some of them are still with us, but much changed men with much changed prices.

That it is hard to understand why girls on Hallowe'en go down stairs to find their future husbands when they can find one quicker by putting it up to them right off the reel.

That the Public Shoe Co. will move from Dover if more room cannot be secured.

That working with one eye on the clock and the other on your work is not so bad. You might put both eyes on the clock.

That the directors and management of the Portsmouth hospital would like to provide a receipt in full for back bills running up into the thousands.

That the old building on Hanover street now occupied by a motor company, has seen many firms come and go since the days when the property was owned by the Kearsarge mills.

That if all the different firms that have located there were bunched and back in Portsmouth, this city would be some manufacturing center.

That Joseph D. Sullivan of Somersworth, who has located in this city for law practice, says he is delighted with the outlook.

That he is making many friends who are extending him the glad hand and best of good wishes.

That the way to be your own food price regulator is by refusing to deal with people who are out to fleece the public.

The New Hampshire college football team is after a game with the Boston navy yard eleven for a week from today, and it is very likely will be accommodated as the navy team has no game on that date.

LAMONT MUST GET ANOTHER BOARDING PLACE

Deputy Sheriff Boardman was called to a house on Love lane, Kittery, between 1 and 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, and locked up a man giving the name of Frank Lamont, who boarded at the place. Lamont, who said he was a joiner at the navy yard, was charged with an assault on the son of the woman with whom he boarded. The boy, Frank Smith, had thrown away two bottles of liquor belonging to the man, who had been drinking, and the man had attempted to "wring the neck" of the boy. Judge Shaw found Lamont guilty of an assault and battery and gave the man an opportunity to live out of town by continuing the case ten days for sentence.
